NETWORKING & CAREER PREPARATION

The Carolina Covenant's support for you leverages a rich network of strategic University partnerships that will benefit you in college and far beyond. Covenant Scholars who take full advantage of these opportunities are in the best position to make the most of their Carolina education.

Get Connected...

Connect with a Carolina Covenant Mentor. Our Mentors are Carolina faculty, professional staff and administration, and peers at the University who can provide direct support for your individual interests and goals. The Covenant's rich network of professional mentors represent a wide range of academic departments, professional schools, and administration, and have supported thousands of Covenant Scholars along their path to success at the University and beyond to graduate school and career opportunities. Covenant Scholars may request a faculty or staff mentor at any stage of their academic journey.

To connect with a faculty or staff mentor, complete our Mentor request form. We recommend completing the form early in the fall (we will send an invitation via email); however, you may request a faculty or staff mentor connection at any point. If you are an incoming student who wishes to have a mentor connection before the first day of classes, you may complete this form during summer orientation, and we will make sure you are connected with a mentor before the start of school. Click here to see our list of outstanding faculty and staff mentors.

To connect with an upper-level Carolina Covenant peer mentor during your first-year, be on the lookout for an email in August asking if you would like to opt in. Students must opt-in to be matched with a peer mentor. The email will provide details for opting in and completing a survey about preferences for matching you with the best-fit peer mentor!

Connect with a Carolina Covenant High-Impact Liaison. Liaisons will actively seek connection with Covenant Scholars throughout the year to invite interested students to engage more with the professional school or academic and career-focused program they represent. There is a liaison for each of Carolina's professional schools, and a pipeline program initiative for Covenant Scholars at the UNC School of Law, School of Medicine, and Kenan-Flagler Business School. Liaisons will host at least one information session each year for all Covenant Scholars, and serve as a connector, point of contact, and support for students seeking admission or deeper experience with their program or school.

Connect with our liaisons by emailing them directly (starting fall 2021) to share your interest and ask specific questions about their department, program, or school, and attend their information sessions for Covenant Scholars (advertised in our e-blast). They are looking forward to hearing from you!

Connecting Carolina's Covenant Scholars: Covenant Career Preparation & Outcomes

The Connecting Carolina's Covenant Scholars (CCCS) initiative coordinates targeted career preparation experiences at the University, a curated network of professional advisors, our High Impact Liaisons, successful alumni and friends, local corporate and industry partners, as well as financial and human resources to help you successfully pursue and secure competitive career opportunities.

To be considered in priority pools for employment opportunities and to be considered for special funding for career development experiences, you should participate in the Covenant Career Accelerator Program. Scholars who move through the Accelerator are positioned to have the first look in recruitment processes with our employer partners and will have more relationships, training, and experiences to position them as competitive applicants for jobs and graduate school.

To join and participate in the Covenant Career Accelerator Program, you must:

- 1. Update your Handshake Account. This is incredibly important. Your account with Handshake will provide you access to a host of job and professional development opportunities. It is also the primary way our program will track your engagement with the Accelerator and facilitate developmental and job employment opportunities that target Covenant Scholars. Click here to learn more about Handshake.
- 2. Read and respond to emails from the Carolina Covenant this year, including an invitation to learn more about and register for the Accelerator Program during the first few weeks of classes and to participate in various opportunities across the year.
- 3. Engage deeply in the select activities outlined in the Accelerator program to increase career readiness and employment opportunities.
- 4. Complete a required progress report and needs assessment emailed to you at the end of each semester so that we may follow and support you!

Helpful Courses to Build Career Readiness

While not required for the Accelerator Program, these courses are highly recommended and provide the extra edge of readiness for career competency development.

Enroll in EDUC 111. Career Exploration. 1 Credit. Career Exploration is designed to expose first and second year students to career development theories, while providing a framework for exploring and discovering their interests and skills. For first- and second-year students.

Enroll in EDUC 311. Life-Career Design. 3 Credits. This course examines the contemporary research in career development (e.g. happiness, purpose, decision-making, values, experiential learning). The course guides students to use design thinking to apply the concepts to life action plans.

Enroll in EDUC 411. Making Liberal Arts "Work". 3 Credits.

Learn how to translate the outcomes of a liberal arts education to the world of work. The course will engage students in connecting one's intellectual and practical learning, as well as individual and social responsibilities to contemporary career skills and life-career design.

Your Covenant Career Accelerator Program experiences interwoven with your overarching academic, leadership, and social experiences at Carolina should provide you with the career readiness competencies below. The Accelerator tracking surveys and materials will help you to identify which experiences provided you with certain competencies and help you articulate the value of your work and the impact of what you learned for yourself and for career development and placement opportunities.

Career Readiness Competencies from the National Association of College Employers

- Critical thinking/problem-solving
- Teamwork/collaboration
- Professionalism/work ethic
- Oral/written communications
- Technology
- Leadership
- Career & Self Development
- Equity & Inclusion

Tips on Leveraging your Carolina Covenant Scholar Status for Networking & Support

- Connect with us to learn more about the opportunities and supports outlined in this guide, and when issues arise that may impact your success at Carolina. We are here for you. Email our team at carolinacovenant@unc.edu.
- Read the weekly eblast from the Carolina Covenant Program in your UNC student email inbox every week for information about connecting, engaging, and applying for resources and career development opportunities.
- Join the Carolina Covenant Scholar GroupMe – hosted by the Carolina Covenant Student Advisory Council, and follow us on Instagram @carolina_covenant to stay in the know on relevant stories related to our program, to connect with and learn from other Scholars, and see last minute opportunities!
- Browse the work-study jobs early and apply for an array of positions. Most (though not all) Carolina Covenant Scholars benefit from Federal Work Study as part of their financial aid package. These positions can help you gain professional experience, enhance career readiness competencies, and grow – even those not directly in the same area of your immediate career interests. So go on, apply! Questions? Email the work study team at work-study@unc.edu.
- If you are comfortable, disclose your Carolina Covenant scholar status in your email signature. Your email signature can alert potential supporters of your Scholar status and eligibility for targeted supports and opportunities. Something like this:
Rameses Tar Heel, Jr.
Carolina Covenant Scholar, Class of 2025
- Connect with a Covenant Mentor and our network of high-impact liaisons early in your academic career. Invest in those relationships. These individuals are dedicated to helping you grow and identify transformational opportunities that suit your interests and needs. Mentors and liaisons can be strong advocates for you when it comes time for letters of recommendation and knowledge of research and job opportunities.
- Study Abroad. Yes! Covenant Scholars can absolutely Study Abroad. There are many programs for which tuition is the same as a regular semester at Carolina as well as other financial aid that could support your academic travel. Make sure to connect with our liaisons for Study Abroad for questions and attend forthcoming workshops.

YOUR FINANCIAL AID: A QUICK GUIDE

WHAT IS THE CAROLINA COVENANT?

The Carolina Covenant is an incredible financial aid package that may include a combination of various scholarships, work-study, and grants - no loans - covering financial need (Cost of Attendance Minus Estimated Family Contribution) for individual students who qualify. The Covenant is also a system of supports and resources to help Covenant scholars thrive at Carolina and beyond.

With these significant financial, academic, and social supports, Carolina Covenant Scholars have the opportunity to graduate from UNC Chapel Hill debt-free and ready for the world.

Financial Aid Quick Guide

The Carolina Covenant financial aid package meets the true need eligibility for every individual Covenant Scholar. It covers the cost of attendance minus expected family contribution through a combination of grants, scholarships, and Federal Work-Study. Each Covenant Scholars' need eligibility is different, and so your financial aid package will look different from your peers.

Comparing your package to another Scholar's package is unlikely to help, but we hope that the following notes will. We are also here to help you understand the billing process and how your financial aid is applied to your student account. Contact us at carolina_covenant@unc.edu. We are happy to assist you at any time!

Eligibility and Renewal

How many semesters am I allowed to receive funding as a Carolina Covenant Scholar?

Entering First Year: 8 academic year semesters

Entering Transfer Sophomore: 6 academic year semesters

Entering Transfer Junior: 4 academic year semesters

Please note: The Carolina Covenant does not provide debt-free funding over the summer.

What are the requirements to renew my Carolina Covenant financial aid package?

To receive a financial aid award each year under the Carolina Covenant as a sophomore, junior or senior, you must:

- Meet annual deadlines for University aid
- Be enrolled at Carolina and making steady progress toward a degree (including making Satisfactory Academic Progress)

Tax Questions

In some cases, your grants and scholarships may be taxable. It is best to seek the advice of a tax expert to look at your individual case. You will take the Award Notification of the tax calendar year (spring of the prior year and fall of the current academic year) to your tax preparer. In addition to private tax preparer services, the IRS has a free online tax service as well local agencies such as The United Way. Also, some credit unions offer free tax services.

You will need to take the 1098T form to your tax preparer to see if you are eligible for a tax tuition credit. Note that only students who paid money towards their tuition generally qualify. Our Cashiers Office issues 1098T forms based on financial aid disbursed to your student account during the calendar year's tax period. Visit the University Cashier's website to learn more.

Financial Aid Quick Guide

Work Study

I am unable to participate in Work-Study this semester and have not found a non-work-study job, and I really need the money. What can I do?

If you need assistance locating a work-study job, please email the work study team at workstudy@unc.edu. Engaging with University Career Services and our Covenant Career Accelerator Program can position you better for non-work-study employment. Click here to visit the work study website to learn more. If these options will not work, you may consider the Work-Study to Loan conversion form at studentaid.unc.edu.

Reading My Bill and Enrollment

Why didn't my funds disburse?

You must be enrolled full-time (12 hours) for your funds to disburse to the Cashiers Office. If you are on a waitlist for courses, your financial aid will disburse as soon as you reach full-time status. If you plan to stay below 12 hours through an approved underload (with academic advising) – you must complete the underload form on our website. A counselor will review the financial aid at the reduced number of hours before disbursing your aid.

My refund doesn't seem as big as in the past. What happened?

Compare your prior semester/year's aid to current year aid. If there has been an extenuating circumstance in your family, you can consider completing a Need Analysis Review Form on our website. Also make sure that you have completed the Health Insurance Budget Adjustment form also on our site if you are on Student Blue Health Insurance, and that you do so each year.

What happens to my Carolina Covenant financial aid package if I drop a course?

The academic and financial implications of course drops are individual and based on drop dates (See the Registrar's calendar for dates). First, connect with an academic advisor with the Academic Advising Program to understand any academic implications of the drop. Then contact us at carolinacovenant@unc.edu to understand any financial implications.

How will it impact my financial aid if I drop classes after the census date?

Connect with an academic advisor to understand any academic implications based on the date you drop. Dropping after census date will not result in revisions to your financial aid (you will not owe anything back).

Financial Aid Quick Guide

What happens to my Carolina Covenant award if I withdraw from the University?

Our office will be notified of the “effective date” of withdrawal. We will then be able to determine the amount that you will owe back to the University under the Return to Title IV federal guidelines. If you withdraw after being enrolled for over 60 percent of the semester, there will be no repayment. Please note that you will retain your Carolina Covenant Status if you return to the University by the date we specify.

I received an outside scholarship and did not receive all of my financial aid. What should I do?

Contact outsidescholarships@unc.edu to check on the status. If for any reason it is late, then you may apply for an emergency loan on our website and use the scholarship funds to repay the loan once the scholarship funds disburse.

Summer

Does the Carolina Covenant pay for classes during the summer?

The Carolina Covenant only meets 100 percent of a scholar's need during the fall and spring semesters, but not summer. During the summer, you may be considered for prorated Pell Grants and loans. You may be considered for Work-Study if it is available.

Visit our website for more information on summer aid.

Books and Meals Plans

While your budget includes a book allowance (about $450 a semester), your books are not automatically paid for with your financial aid. We do not recommend charging books at Student Stores to your account before your aid disburses. If possible, we recommend waiting for your aid to disburse (should be by the first day of classes) and your refund to hit your account and then use these funds to pay for your books. You will need to pay out of pocket for any difference. Consider renting or buying used books to offset costs. Click here for an additional resource on finding course materials.

You will be packaged at the highest meal plan rate (about $2,430 a semester). We recommend that students living on campus choose a meal plan before the start of school to ensure a smoother process for financial aid disbursement. Many Scholars find that they do not require the highest meal plan. The lower the meal plan, the more of your meal budget shows up as part of your refund. If you are living off campus and choose not to have a meal plan, you can use this budget toward your meals anywhere. Click here for more information on meal plans.

Financial Aid Quick Guide

Study Abroad

Is there financial aid for Study Abroad for Carolina Covenant Scholars for fall, spring and summer?

Yes, you may use your financial aid to apply towards your study abroad program during the fall or spring semesters. Unfortunately, we do not have remaining grant aid to award for summer sessions. We encourage you to study abroad during the academic year through programs at the exchange rate. If you choose to study abroad during the summer, you will likely need a loan to cover the expenses. Please contact our Study Abroad contact within the Office of Scholarships and Student Aid with questions: fa_studyabroad@unc.edu.

Health Insurance

All students are required to have health insurance. If you are not covered under your parent's health insurance, enroll in Student Blue student health insurance plan and complete the insurance budget adjustment request form to have funds applied to your account to cover the health insurance charge.

Housing

If I am living in Ram Village, or off-campus, and my living costs exceed the on campus standard double occupancy rate for housing, may I request a housing allowance add-on?

We encourage you to make housing choices within your financial aid budget (the standard double occupancy rate) to make the most of your aid and to avoid needing loans. If you would like more funds to cover your choice of more expensive housing, you may apply for a loan. Extenuating circumstances may be addressed to our team at carolinacovenant@unc.edu.

What happens to my financial aid if I move off-campus?

Your financial aid will be exactly the same if you live on or off-campus. The difference is that you will receive a refund that you will have to budget carefully for off-campus housing/meals/transportation.

If I make a change from living with parents to moving back on campus – or moving to an off-campus apartment living independently, will my budget be updated?

Contact the Office of Scholarships and Student aid if you change your living arrangement from living with parents to living on or off campus so that we may update your budget and financial aid award. However, if you change from living on campus to moving off-campus – we use the same budget. There would be no change to the financial aid.

Financial Aid Quick Guide

Other Resources & Tools

Do Carolina Covenant Scholars receive support for a laptop computer?

Yes, you will be automatically eligible for a CCI laptop grant in your entering semester only. This covers the basic Lenovo laptop computer. If you want a more expensive version you will have to cover the difference out of pocket. If you wish to order printers/copiers, you will also be responsible for paying for those out of pocket. Click here to learn more about the CCI laptop grant.

Does the Covenant cover the cost of outside counseling or therapy?

We understand that many students struggle with the cost of mental health resources. We recommend connecting early with Counseling & Psychological Services (CAPS) to understand your option. If you require support outside of CAPS, their staff can advise about additional grant funding for counseling and the portion that may be covered.

About Loans

The Carolina Covenant financial aid package provides the opportunity for Carolina Covenant Scholars to graduate debt-free. To increase the likelihood that you will graduate without debt, we encourage you to make financial decisions that keep your expenses within the scope of the financial aid package and avoid loans unless you absolutely need it. For example, staying within the standard double occupancy rate for housing expenses on or off campus, maximizing work-study and employment opportunities, planning to maximize fall and spring course enrollment at 12-15 hours each, and considering study abroad experiences that are at the exchange rate can help you stay within the scope of your financial aid.

Contact the Covenant office with financial concerns so that we can support your consideration of all options for emergencies or academic opportunities before loans.
